RAJYA SABHA

The following Bills were introduced in the Rajya Sabha on 23rd December, 2005:—

I

BILL NO. LXXX OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

Short title.

2. After article 364 of the Constitution, the following article shall be inserted, namely:—

Insertion of new article
364A Promotion of Sports.

“364A. (1) It shall be the duty of the Union,—

(i) promote and encourage sports activities in the country;

(ii) make available all necessary facilities and to set up necessary infrastructure for promotion of sports;

(iii) provide sufficient funds to the State Governments for grooming up players in all fields on international standards so that they can face global competition with admirable performance.

(2) Parliament may by law provide for regulation of sports associations and federations with a view to ensuring that they function and involve in activities for which they have been set up.

Amendment of seventh schedule.

3. In the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution:—

(i) in List I—Union List, after entry 68, the following entry shall be inserted, namely:—

“68A. Sports and games”; and

(ii) in List II—State List, in entry 33, the word “sports” shall be omitted.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Even after fifty-eight years of independence we have not made our presence felt in sports activities at international level. Ours is the second most populous country and is endowed with various climatic conditions suitable for developing different kind of sports and games activities. The performance of our sportsmen in international sports meets has been dismal. No efforts seems to have been made to raise the standard of sports in the country.

One reason for sports not being given sufficient focus is that the subject is in the State List. As a result, it has not received due attention of the Union Government. It is, therefore, necessary to amend the Constitution with a view to giving due importance to sports at national level. The Bill will enable formulation of a national sports policy and encourage all spheres of sports activities in the country. The Bill seeks to provide for funds and facilities to institutions/associations involved in sports activities. It also seeks to amend the Seventh Schedule the constitution with a view to transferring the entry 'sports' from State list to Union list.

Hence this Bill.

C. RAMACHANDRAIAH.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill provide for promotion and encouragement of sports activities in the country. It also provides for setting up infrastructures required in sports activities. The Bill, if enacted, will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that an annual recurring expenditure of about rupees one hundred crore is likely to be incurred. A non-recurring expenditure of about rupees five hundred crore is also likely to be required.

II

BILL NO. LXXXIII OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Amendment) Act, 2005.

Substitution of new section for section 4 of Act 15 of 1992.

2. For section 4 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India Act, 1992, the following section shall be substituted namely:—

Management of the Board.

"4. (1) The Board shall consist of the following ten members, namely:—

(a) a Chairman;

(b) two members one each from amongst the officials of the Ministries of the Central Government dealing with Company Affairs and Finance;

(c) one member from amongst the officials of the Reserve Bank; and

(d) six members, two each representing investors, industry and recognised Stock Exchange.

to be appointed by the Central Government.

(2) The general superintendence, direction and management of the affairs of the Board shall vest in a Board of members, which may exercise all powers and do all acts and things which may be exercised or done by the Board.

(3) Save as otherwise determined by regulations, the Chairman shall also have powers of general superintendence and direction of the affairs of the Board and may also exercise all powers and do all acts and things which may be exercised or done by that Board.

(4) The Chairman and members referred to in clauses (a) and (d) of sub-section (1) shall be appointed by the Central Government and the members referred to in clauses (b) and (c) of that sub-section shall be nominated by the Central Government and the Reserve Bank respectively.

(5) The Chairman and the other members referred to in clauses (a) and (d) of sub-section (1) shall be persons of ability, integrity and standing who have shown capacity in dealing with problems relating to securities market or have special knowledge or experience of law, finance, economics, accountancy, administration or in any other discipline which, in the opinion of the Central Government, shall be useful to the Board."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Securities and Exchange Board of India was set up in 1992 to regulate the activities of capital market. One of the main objects of the Board is to protect the interests of small investors. At present, there is no representative of the small investors in the Board. It is felt that for more efficient functions of the Board it is necessary to strengthen the composition of the Board. It is accordingly proposed to include two representatives each from a recognized stock exchange, small investors and the industry as the members of the Board. It is also proposed to carry out some consequential amendments in Section 4 of the Act.

The Bill seeks to achieve the above objective.

C. RAMACHANDRAIAH.

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill makes provisions for appointment of one more member. This will involve expenditure of about rupees fifteen lakhs per annum from Consolidated Fund of India as a recurring expenditure.

It will also involve a non-recurring expenditure of rupees ten lakhs.

IIIBILL NO. C OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

Short title and commencement.

(2) It shall come into force with immediate effect.

2. In the Eighth Schedule to the Constitution, existing entries 17 to 22 shall be re-numbered as entries 18 to 23 respectively and before entry 18 as so re-numbered, the following entry shall be inserted, namely:—

Amendment of Eighth
Schedule.

"17. Rajasthani including Bagri, Haroti, Dhundadi, Mewari, Mewati, Marwari, Shekhawati, etc. languages which are parts thereof."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Rajasthani is one of the ancient and rich languages, widely spoken in Rajasthan, Madhya Pradesh, Haryana and other parts of the country and abroad by more than fifty million people. This language has sub-languages such as Brijbhasha, Haroti, Bagri, Dhundadi, Mewari, Mewati, Marwari, Malwi, Shekhawati, etc. which are spoken in different parts of Rajasthan but these are parts of the Rajasthani language. This language has its own history, literature and has produced eminent scholars. Many popular films have been produced in Rajasthani language. This language is taught in many schools, colleges and universities, but unfortunately this has not got due recognition that it deserves. Since this language has not been included in the Eighth Schedule to the Constitution, the students of this language cannot opt it for UPSC and other examinations. Moreover, the State is also not serious in promoting this language further. It is the wish of crores of Rajasthani speaking people that this rich language must be included in the Eighth Schedule to the Constitution.

Hence this Bill.

IV

BILL NO. CIII OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

Short title and commencement.

(2) It shall come into force with immediate effect.

2. After article 21A of the Constitution the following article shall be inserted, namely:—

Insertion of new article
21B.

21B (1) All citizens shall have the right to social security which inter alia shall include the right to,—

Right to social security.

(a) gainful employment in public or private sector and provision of unemployment allowance till the citizen gets gainful employment;

(b) shelter or dwelling unit of appropriate type with amenities for living therein;

(c) old age allowance and other concessions and amenities necessary for hasslefree life for senior citizens who have attained the age of sixty years and do not have other source of income;

(d) disability allowance and other requisite assistance to physically challenged citizens who have no other source of income;

(e) compulsory healthcare including health insurance at state expenses for all senior and physically challenged citizens;

(f) such other assistance and amenities as the State may deem necessary for the welfare of citizens and more so for the senior and physically challenged citizens.

(2) Notwithstanding anything in article 359, the provisions of this article shall not be suspended.

(3) Parliament may by law prescribe the manner in which social security shall be secured by the State to the citizens.

3. Article 41 of the Constitution shall be omitted.

Omission of Article 41.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Social security rights envisaged under article 41 of the Constitution have not yet been secured to the citizens even after more than five decades of country's independence. Unemployment has become the biggest problem of the nation after population explosion. There is no guarantee of job. The youth today has become desperate and frustrated. Employment opportunities are consistently shrinking and the hopes of the youth too are sinking. There is no provision of unemployment allowance for the youth who are unemployed. So is the case of homelessness which is increasing day by day. People are forced to live in Jhuggi Jhopri clusters and slums in inhuman conditions, without civic amenities, full of stinking garbage and diseases. Senior citizens are not even secure. They become unwanted even in their own families and without source of income many of them have to live on charity and many of them turn beggars. Few of them get meagre old age pension which is not sufficient even for two square meals. They should get old age allowance on which they can subsist and lead a good life. The position of physically challenged persons is more awesome. Their representation in service sector is negligible. They too are in need of subsistence allowance. The health care has gone out of the reach of common man. A poor man can not afford medical care these days. Hence compulsory health insurance has become necessary for the citizens. Our State being a welfare State has to provide these as social security measures to all of its citizens.

Hence this Bill.

PRABHA THAKUR

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill provides for right to social security which includes right to employment, unemployment allowance, housing, old age allowance, disability allowance and compulsory health insurance for the citizens. The Bill if enacted will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. Although it is not possible to assess the total financial implications at this stage, it is estimated that a sum of rupees ten thousand crore may be involved as recurring expenditure per annum.

A non recurring expenditure of about rupees five thousand crore may also involve.

Savings.

11. The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

Power to make rules.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

There are millions of families living below poverty line in our country. The children born in such families grow in abject poverty. They have the destiny to live without basic necessities of life, almost hand to mouth, without even clothes on their bodies. To face the stalking hunger they become rag pickers, beggars, petty thieves, pick pockets, snatchers, etc. They are exploited at all levels in the society and looked down upon. The condition of a girl child born in such families is more awesome and pathetic. She is exploited at every stage of her life even physically and in most of the cases end in a brothel. When there is no guarantee of even two square meals, good education, vocation and good life are day dreams for such hapless children of our society.

Since our State is a welfare State it has to come forward for the welfare of such unfortunate and less privileged children who are born in the families living below poverty line as they are also the future citizens of the country. In fact it is the right of these poor children to get good education, vocation and facilities of good life and it is the duty of the State to provide these facilities to these children.

This bill seeks to achieve the above objects.

PRABHA THAKUR

Clause 9 provides that Central Government shall provide requisite funds to States. The Bill if enacted will involve expenditure from the Consolidated Fund of India. It is estimated that a sum of rupees one thousand crore may involve as recurring expenditure per annum.

A non-recurring expenditure to the tune of rupees five hundred crore may also involve from the Consolidated Fund of India.

Clause 11 of the Bill gives power to the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes of the Bill.

VI

BILL No. CVII OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. After article 40 of the Constitution, the following article shall be inserted, namely:—

“40A. The state shall take necessary legal and other administrative steps to develop the scientific temper, humanism and the spirit of inquiry and reform amongst the citizens”.

Short title
and commencement.

Insertion of new article
40A.

Development of scientific temper.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Superstitious beliefs are prevailing in the country for the last several centuries. These beliefs have taken strong roots in the society and have done irreparable harm to it, particularly to the weaker sections. It was expected that as time passes, scientific temper in the minds of the people will increase and, people may refrain from resorting to unpleasant and crude methods to achieve their social and other objectives. Literacy is increasing among the people but, disbelief in superstitious beliefs have not diminished in the same proportion.

Literate people too are found to be indulging in superstitious beliefs in quite an astonishing proportion. Fundamental duties enshrined in the Constitution, although, lay stress on this aspect, the need of the hour is to incorporate the same as a Directive Principle in the Constitution.

Hence this Bill.

SHANTARAM NAIK

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 2 of the Bill puts an obligation on the state to take necessary legal and other administrative steps to develop the scientific temper, humanism and the spirit of inquiry and reform in the minds of the citizens.

This will involve a recurring expenditure of about rupees 2 crore from the Consolidated Fund of India.

VII

BILL NO. CIX OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

Short title and
commencement.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. In article 324 of the Constitution, after clause (1) the following Explanation shall be inserted, namely:—

Amendment of article 324.

“Explanation:—All directions or orders issued by the Commission shall solely be for the enforcement or implementation of any law enacted by Parliament or State Legislature, and no such direction or order shall contain anything which is either contrary to or not in accordance with any law enacted by Parliament or State Legislature as the case may be.”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

In recent years, the Election Commission of India has issued several orders, directions and circulars purportedly under article 324 of the Constitution, sometimes quoting the article and other times without quoting any source of law.

It is amply clear under the said article that power to be exercised is of the nature of "superintendence, direction and control" for the purpose of the conduct of all elections to Parliament and to the Legislature of every state and of election to the office of President and Vice-President held under the Constitution.

Many of the directions, orders and circulars issued by the Commission has the effect of creating new set of "laws" which do not conform to the two existing legislations dealing with elections, namely, the Representation of the People Act, 1950, which deals with the preparation of electoral rolls, etc. and, the Representation of the People Act, 1951 which deals with all other aspects regarding conduct of elections.

Publications of the Commission incorporating such directions, orders and circulars have become voluminous giving an impression that Parliament's powers of enacting laws have become redundant. Proposed amendment seeks to clear the misgivings regarding scope of article 324 of the Constitution.

Hence this Bill.

VIII

BILL NO. CX OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Constitution of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

1. (1) This Act may be called the Constitution (Amendment) Act, 2005.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. In the Tenth Schedule to the Constitution, for para 6, the following para shall be substituted, namely:—

“6. If any question arises as to whether a member of a House has become subject to disqualification under this schedule, the question shall be referred to the Election Commission.”

Short title
and commencement

Amendment
of Tenth Schedule.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Tenth Schedule to the Constitution has succeeded in bringing considerable purity in our political system. The schedule has recently undergone a change. However, there is a popular demand that the authority to decide whether a member has become subject to disqualification under the Tenth Schedule to the Constitution, should rest in the Election Commission. This demand is gaining force in the States on account of controversies created following decisions of the Presiding Officers of some States.

The Bill seeks to achieve the above objective.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Issue of smart card to each and every citizen in the country is one of the most essential requirements of the day keeping in view the security threat to the nation. Our nation is prone to infiltration from all sides, and a lot of infiltrations do take place from neighbouring countries. Therefore, the citizens do need some sort of document to prove their identity whenever confronted during security checks.

With the commitment of the nation towards e-governance, issuing of smart card to a citizen would be a step in that direction. Many countries have adopted this method of providing identity to their citizens. The smart card will be containing all the necessary details about a person. It can be used in banks, smart card readers, etc. for financial and other transactions in an efficient manner. In the long run, it will save a lot of time and energy.

Hence this Bill

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The market in the urban and semi-urban area in the country is full of traditional herbal preparations now a days. These medicines claim to cure various ailments from general fatigue to diabetes to cancer. According to a report, a casual and random checking and testing of these medicines by the Department of Pharmacology of one of the premium referral hospitals in Delhi revealed that many of them were contaminated containing steroids which in the long run could lead to suppression of immune system, growth retardation in children, diabetes and cataracts. Under the pretext of ancient texts and without any legal requirement of any licence to sell these medicines, these unchecked traditional medicines are causing serious ailments to their innocent users. The absence of quality control and mechanism to verify the ingredients and the efficacy of many of these medicines have lead to the proliferation of the practice of dispensing these medicines.

There is no doubt about the prescription and formulations available in the ancient text, but at the same time, these medicines must go through the test for their toxicity and evaluation studies. To say that herbal drugs do not have any side effects does not hold good as adverse effects are dependent on the time for which a particular drug is taken and the prescribed dosage. This argument does not take into account the basic principle that any drug having a good effect will have an adverse effect too. Therefore, all herbal drugs are not safe in all circumstances. Some medicines are known to contain heavy metal including mercury and gold and some homoeopathic and ayurvedic medicines contain arsenic. These have to be given in minute dosages under constant supervision, which does not happen. The side effects of any medicine have to be listed on the cover. But manufactures are not even listing the ingredients of the medicine. Medicine containing steroids and metals including mercury and arsenic are available over the counter with no warning or contra-indications. Market is flooded with herbal weight loss medicines, which have been found to be very harmful to kidneys and at times develop urinary track cancer.

The rationale for not demanding evidence, based trial or efficacy test for traditional herbal drugs because they have been used for centuries and so they do not need fresh test, does not hold good as there are many fly by night operators who have taken advantage of this system. Although there are traditional herbal medicines from reputed companies, but many a time these are concoctions prepared by quacks who after duping their patients run away with money.

Internationally, move towards regulation of traditional herbal medicine has already been initiated when certain medicines were found to be damaging human organs in some countries.

Therefore, it is high time that a regulatory mechanism for sale and evidence based trial may be adopted for traditional herbal medicines so as to obviate the unscrupulous elements which are taking advantage of the system.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Food adulteration in our country has reached an alarming level. Numerous cases of adulteration and contamination are reported almost daily but no heed has ever been paid to the gravity of the problem. Right to safe and hygienic food, packed drinks and water is the basic right of each citizen in the country. But till date, this area of providing hygienic food, packed drinks and water to the citizens has been neglected. Despite the Prevention of Food Adulteration Act, adulteration in food and water is very common. Everything you eat or drink be it milk, flour, dal, oil, vegetables, sweet, fruit juices or water is adulterated. The impact of these adulterants on health is ranging from vomiting and abdominal pain to mental retardation, cardiac arrest and cancer. The worst sufferer of adulteration is milk, which is being adulterated sometimes with urea or chalk and even pesticide or detergents. In the recent past there has been a controversy on the packaged drinking water when traces of pesticides were found in one of the most popular brands. Once organized adulteration in mustard oil had lead to a deadly disease or dropsy in the capital and other parts of the country. People are falling ill after consuming adulterated food or contaminated water but the persons who are responsible for adulteration are not getting any punishment.

Therefore, to protect the interests of the consumer, there is an urgent need to set up a Commission that would look into the whole spectrum of providing safe and hygienic food, packed drinks and water to the citizens in the country.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

All kind of electronic goods have become the household articles today. Every home has not one but a number of electronic products. Once these electronic products become obsolete or discarded, they are either thrown in the garbage or given to Kabariwala. The Kabariwala sells these products to scrap dealers who dismantle these gadgets and keep what is useful and rest of it is rendered into garbage which then is thrown in the landfills. This, of course, is not the proper way of its disposal. In this way millions of tonnes of electronic waste is generated in various metropolitan cities in the country. A number of components in these electronic products are hazardous and should be disposed of in an environment friendly manner. Many of these products contain components that contain toxic substances like lead, cadmium, mercury, hexavalent chromium, barium, beryllium and carcinogenic agents like carbon black and heavy metals. These elements can cause serious problems to the health of the person handling it and can also damage the environment if they are not disposed of properly.

In various countries, there are laws for proper disposal of electronic waste products and the procedure for it is also displayed on the product. There it is also indicated on the product what can be recycled and what cannot be recycled. But, in our country disposal of electronic-waste is nobody's responsibility. As of now, there is no law or guideline for the disposal of electronic waste and no account is being taken how much is being generated and how it is being disposed of. It is, therefore, high time that matter may be regulated before the situation becomes alarming.

Hence this Bill.

VIJAY J. DARDA

FINANCIAL MEMORANDUM

Clause 3(2) of the Bill provides that the appropriate Government shall provide for infrastructure for collection, storage, transportation and disposal of the electronic waste. In view of this it is estimated that a recurring expenditure of rupees fifty crores would be involved from the Consolidated Fund of India per annum.

Non-recurring expenditure of rupees two hundred crores would also be involved.

Clause 11 of the Bill empowers the Central Government to make rules for carrying out the purposes of the Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

Recently, the nation was shocked by the news pouring in almost on daily basis reporting farmers particularly in Andhra Pradesh affected by drought conditions committing suicides because they could not repay their loans and could not fulfill other obligations. This is indeed a blot on our democracy. However, ours is a very vast country and natural calamities also occur frequently in one part or the other. Drought has become a perpetual phenomena in many parts of the country particularly in Rajasthan, Gujarat, Chhattisgarh, Andhra Pradesh, Karnataka, Orissa, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Bihar, Jharkhand, Uttar Pradesh, etc. Assam is flooded every year. Coastal areas face cyclones almost every year. Half of Bihar is flooded and other half faces consistent drought conditions. Many parts face earthquake, hailstorm, cloudbursts, severe cold conditions, etc. But it is an unfortunate truth that farmers mostly bear the brunt of such natural calamities. The crops are damaged by all the natural calamities. With the damage of the crops the hopes and aspirations of the farmers too are lost. The farmers become penniless and cannot repay the loans and interest to the moneylenders, Banks, etc. which they could have repaid had there been a good crop. Many a times not only crops but the farmers also lose their homes, household items, livestock and become homeless. Unable to bear the pressures many hapless farmers take extreme step of committing suicide which they feel is the easy way to get rid of their problems but they leave behind their wailing families.

In a welfare state like ours it is the duty of the State to protect the life and liberty of its citizens which includes farmers also. The farmers, who grow food for the whole nation, should be saved at the time he is in distress facing the wrath of natural calamity by the State by providing adequate compensation to enable him to fight the odds. The Banks should apart from giving the affected farmers soft loans should also stop recovery of old loans and interest thereon should be waived. There are some other provisions in the Bill which may prevent the farmers from committing suicide and face the calamity bravely.

Hence this Bill.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

After China ours is the largest populated nation in the world. We have already crossed the one billion mark and there is no slow down in the boom of the population. Having only 2.4 per cent of global land area, we have more than 15 per cent of the world population making our nation one of the most densely populated nations of the globe. The booming population has adversely affected the whole planning process and has given rise to unparalleled transformation to human values, social institutions and economic structures. Means of livelihood such as employment are becoming scarce. So is the case with educational facilities, housing, medicare, etc. Agricultural land holdings are fast becoming uneconomical. The overcrowding is resulting in deterioration in law and order situation and is compelling at least half the population to live in slums and under squalid conditions. It is also affecting the ecological balance as the forests are decreasing and greenery is being replaced by concrete structures. The gap between the haves and have-nots is creating an explosive situation.

It is, therefore, necessary to check the booming population effectively by providing for incentives as well disincentives so as to tackle it at all levels.

Hence this Bill.

XV

BILL NO. CXX OF 2005

A Bill further to amend the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Fifty-sixth Year of the Republic of India, as follows:—

Short title and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Protection of Human Rights (Amendment) Act, 2005.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

Amendment
of section 12.

2. In section 12 of the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 (hereinafter referred to as the Principal Act), after sub-clause (ii), of clause (a), the following sub-clause shall be inserted, namely:—

Act No. 10 of 1994.

3. In section 17 of the Principal Act, for clause (i), the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

of section 17.

“(i) call for information or report from the Central Government or any State Government or any other authority or organization subordinate thereto or from a person or Non-Government Organization or an institute for violation of such human rights as have arisen out of International Covenants and enforceable by courts of India, within such time as may be specified by it.”

4. In section 18 of the Principal Act:—

Amendment
of section 18.

(i) for clause (1), the following clause shall be substituted, namely:—

“(1) where the inquiry discloses, the commission of violation of human rights or negligence in the prevention of violation of human rights by a public servant, a person, Non-Government Organization or an institute, it shall recommend to the concerned Government or authority the initiation of proceedings for prosecution or such other action as the Commission may deem fit against the concerned person or persons:

Provided that the Commission shall specify such action or quantum of punishment as may be prescribed for violation of human rights, action for which can not be initiated in any other law in force.”

(ii) after clause (6), the following clause shall be inserted, namely:—

“(7) The Commission shall, on being satisfied that the action taken or proposed to be taken by the concerned Government or authority is not in proportion to the offence committed, forward the complaint to the Magistrate, who shall proceed to try the case in accordance with sections 200 and 201 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1973.”

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The term "human right" has been defined in the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 as the rights relating to life, liberty equality and dignity of the individual guaranteed by the Constitution and embodied in the International Covenants and enforceable by courts in India. As such, human rights relating to the rights guaranteed by the Constitution, if violated by the state or any public authority, may be protected. Of late, many new rights have been recognized by International Covenants violation of which can not be actionable in any other law in force. In addition to this, a person, NGO or a private institute as per the Act can not be held liable for violation of human rights even if they may have violated human rights recognized by the International covenants in other words. The Act provides for action for violation of human rights by public authority and not against a private entity.

2. It has been observed that the powers of the National Human Rights Commission have been reduced to act merely as an agency to initiate an enquiry into cases of violation of human rights and to publish action taken report submitted to it by the Government. It has only recommendatory powers, whereas, taking into account the expertise, experience and specialization in handling cases of violation of human rights, the Commission should have been given powers to specify penal actions at least for cases which are not covered by any relevant statute.

3. In view of the above, the Bill proposes to amend the Protection of Human Rights Act, 1993.

4. Hence this Bill.
